Lack Of Funds Threatens High Standards Of L-W

Members of the Parent - Teachers Group, the Lincoln-Way Band Boosters and the Lincoln-Way Drama club are busy these days in urging residents of the high school district to support the two tax increase proposals to be voted on in a special election Sept. 17.

One proposition is to increase the educational fund tax rate from 86 to 99 cents per $100 equalized assessed valuation, a raise of 13 cents. The other is to increase the transportation tax three cents, from two to five cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation.

The explanation given by the school board and school administrators that the present rates in both instances are inadequate to meet demands.

The board had to borrow $95,000 last year to meet payrolls and bills. This year an additional $40,000 has been added to the budget because of automatic increases in the teachers' salary scale and the necessity of hiring six more teachers because of the increased enrollment. Lincoln-Way, a school spokesman pointed out, has the lowest salary schedule of any high school in the territory and so is at a serious disadvantage in hiring teachers.

The two - cent transportation tax brought in less than $8,000 last year. The transportation bill exceeded $30,000; the state contributed approximately $13,000 so the school had to take the balance from the educational fund. The five-cent rate is expected to produce about $20,000 so with the aid from the state there would be no need of diverting money from other funds to meet transportation costs, it was explained.

Board members also pointed out there were no funds available to purchase additional buses or replace old equipment. Most of the buses have been in operation since the school opened six years ago.

Lincoln-Way high school has been operated on a high standard from an educational point of view, the school spokesman said, and the board is hopeful that the tax increase will be forthcoming so funds will be available so the standards may be maintained. Otherwise they will have to be curtailed, it was said.

The proposed increase in the educational fund tax rate was voted down at the regular school election last spring by 32 votes. Shortly after the election a Mokena man, John Porick, 194th street, addressed a letter to the Supt. A. Hunter Chapman expressing regret over the defeat.

The school spokesman quotes a part of this letter in the hope that if Mr. Porick's contention that forgetfulness on the part of parents is right, it will not be repeated.

"Rest assured," the letter reads in part, "that parents who were in favor of the proposal and took time to vote were equally disappointed in the outcome. Personally, I was shocked and I imagine many parents . . . were likewise shocked. I honestly believe it was one horrible mistake that should not have occurred."

"The proposal was defeated, not by any Old Guard and people who do not have children or parents who no longer have children of school age, but . . . by parents who were 100% behind the project but who had neglected to vote. I firmly believe that many parents did not bother to vote simply because they were of the opinion that the proposal was a sure thing and that their one or two votes a family were not . . . enough to make any difference."

"I would like to have you believe that the great majority of parents in our school district are 100% behind you and your staff of fine teachers. We parents do appreciate . . . your efforts in helping prepare our children for the future."

Hold Last Rites For Edna Beadle; Native Of N. L.

Last rites for Mrs. Edna Beadle, 71, native of New Lenox township, were held Friday afternoon in the Olson Funeral home, 202 S. Eastern Ave., Joliet, with the Rev. Clarence Ploch, pastor of the Ottawa Street Methodist church officiating. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery at New Lenox.

Mrs. Beadle was born in Spencer, New Lenox township April 18, 1890 the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haines, who were pioneer residents of the area. Mrs. Beadle was a descendant of the poet, Oliver Wendell Holmes.

After completing her education in the local schools, she taught for a few years in a rural school near her home. She was united in marriage with Lawrence Beadle of New Lenox, Sept. 20, 1911. The latter was killed in an auto accident near Rock Run creek in 1933. Previous to that year, the family had moved to Joliet, where Mr. Beadle was an agent for the Prudential Insurance company.

Mrs. Beadle was a member of the Ottawa Street Methodist church and prominent in the women's circle; and of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She served as housekeeper for 12 years for the late John H. Savage, Joliet attorney. For the past number of years her health had been failing and three years ago was removed to the Oak Bluff Nursing home in Lockport, where she passed away Aug. 20.

Surviving are a daughter, Marge Mrs. William H. Wilson, Joliet; a son, Raymond, Marley; three grandchildren; five sisters, Irene, Mrs. Glen Rausch, Frances, Mrs. Clinton King, both of Plainfield; Edith, Mrs. Willard Sayers, New Lenox; Rose, Mrs. Robert E. Allen, Wilmington and Mrs. Irene, Lindstrom, Chicago.

Summit Hill Voters O.K. Of Bonds May Open New School

Voters of the Summit Hill school district approved a $35,000 building bond issue and a 21-cent increase in the educational fund tax rate at a special election last Saturday, Sept. 3.

Eventually this action by the voters is expected to cure some of the district's ills but at the moment Summit Hill directors and pupils have troubles.

The new school constructed by developers of Arbury Hills is not available so classes resumed Tuesday in the old room school on 191 st.

Since the school can only accommodate around 30 pupils and the current enrollment is approximately twice that, classes will operate on a shift basis. There are two teachers and they will divide the work. One will take the pupils in the first four grades, and will attend from 8 a.m. until 12 noon. Pupils in the four upper grades will report at 12:15. The afternoon session will end at 4:15 o'clock.

State law requires a four-hour session each school day. It is reported there is still some work to be done before the school built by Arbury Hill developers is completed but that is not the reason why the building is not in use, it was said.

Directors of the Summit Hill district will not use the new school until title has been acquired. As yet builders are holding title.

In a letter received by the directors last week from Edward Seeley, president of the firm developing Arbury Hills, school officials were advised that the deed would be issued as soon as the people of the district indicated they would do their share to take care of pupils that were residing there before the new school was built.

According to information reaching the office of the county superintendent of schools the Arbury Hills developers do not take kindly to the idea that the school they have built will be used by youngsters from other nearby subdivisions.

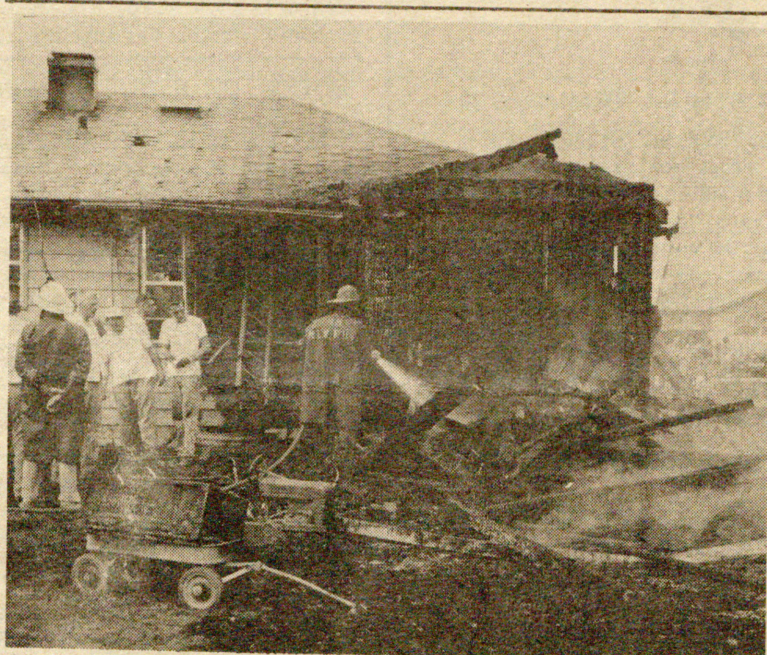

However, it was pointed out by County Superintendent Verne Cracker that a public school is just what the term implies, and the one in Arbury Hills would be open to all pupils in the district.

Approval of the bond issue and the educational fund tax rate increase by Summit Hill voters is expected to be accepted by the developers of Arbury Hills that the people of the district are indeed doing their part and so perhaps title to the school will be passed along to school authorities in the near future.

While for all practical purposes Summit Hill district would become owner of the new school, title to same actually would be vested in the county school trustees.

There was some feeling that the two proposals on the ballots last Saturday would be defeated. There were but 41 votes cast in the election and the returns were: For increasing the educational fund tax rate from 76 to 96 cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation:

Yes.....24
No.....17
For approval of $35,000 in bonds for building a school:
Yes.....26
No.....15
The directors have not decided what to do with the bond issue,

A FIRE of undetermined origin destroyed the garage and gutted the kitchen and livingroom in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Keller, 140 Maple Lane, New Lenox Sunday afternoon, Sept. 4. According to New Lenox Fire Chief, Frank Vally, the fire started in the attached garage around 2:30 p.m. Due to low water pressure in the wells Frankfort and Mokena fire departments were called for the use of their water tank trucks. At present the estimate of damage was not determined. (Robert Porter Photos) weather to build two additional rooms to the school built by the subdividers or hold up the bonds until ready to start work on a new school to be erected on a site off 191st street and to the east. The old Summit Hill school is on 191st, about a mile east of U. S. 45.

The new school in Arbury Hills is at the south end of the project off U. S. 45. No transportation is furnished pupils in Summit Hill district. It was pointed out that in the first place the district is not required to furnish transportation and in the second place it can't afford it.

Chief of Police James Smetana, of Mokena, is in Silver Cross hospital for a check-up.

Social Security Payments Near Million In Will Co.

Twenty-five years after the social security law was passed there were 11,619 people in Will County receiving $760,000 per month in social security benefits. 315 of them were totally disabled people and the rest were retired men and women and survivors.

In the nation as a whole, more than 14 million people are receiving more than $10 billion per year. About half a million of them are disabled people and they receive more than $400 million per year. The number of people and approximate amount of benefits received in Will County at the present time are as follows:

	Per Month
6,300 Retired Men and Women	$510,000
250 Disabled Workers	23,000
2,100 Wives and Dependent Husbands	88,000
1,525 Children	80,000
60 Disabled Adult Children	2,100
1,400 Widows and Widowers	83,000
360 Mothers of Dependent Children	24,000
35 Parents	2,250

The average monthly benefit to a retired worker without dependents is now $70 and the monthly payment for a couple is $122. By contract, the monthly retirement benefit in 1940 was $22 for a retired worker without dependents, and the monthly amount for a couple was $36.

74 million people are now covered by social security either as employees or as self-employed.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

By Cong. N.M. Mason
The Eisenhower eight-year record:

-- Budget balanced 4 years; unbalanced 4 years.

-- Total spending for 8 years $578 billion; total receipts for 8 years $563 billion.

-- Spending increase from $67.7 billion first year to $80 billion this year.

-- Public debt June, 1953, $266 billion; June, 1960, $281 billion. Increase of $15 billion.

-- Interest on debt in 1953, $6.6 billion; in 1960, $9.6 billion.

-- Welfare expenditures (including veterans) increased from $3.3 billion to $10 billion.

-- Farm aid increased from $2.7 billion to $5.6 billion. (Labeled "farm aid" but only half really farm aid.)

-- National Security expenditures down $5 billion.

These figures do not give a true picture of the Eisenhower administration. The Democrats have controlled congress and congressional spending six out of the eight years, with only the President's veto power as a check against spending. With a Republican congress the picture would have been much brighter.

WOMEN IN POLITICS
Government figures tell us that the women of the United States own 75% of the wealth of the nation; that the women manage 95% of the family pocketbooks of the nation; that they outnumber the men and cast 52% of the votes on election day. Is it any wonder that candidates for public office cater to and cultivate the women voters of the United States?

Figures show that the Eisenhower Administration has appointed to important administrative government positions 407 women -- more than any former President. Seventeen women have been elected to congress and now represent their people. Three hundred forty-seven women are now serving in State Legislatures, and forty-one women have been elected to state-wide elective office.

It is evident that women are coming into their own politically, though it is only forty years since the women of the United States were given the franchise. Women belong to and influence the action and attitude of most community and neighborhood groups. Their interests and activities reach into the schools, the churches, and other social organizations. The support of the women of the United States can very well spell the difference between defeat and victory at the polls this year. It will be the women who will largely decide whether this nation will go farther to the LEFT -- toward a Socialist-Welfare-Labor government, or whether we are to follow our American form of government and our American way of life. American women will very largely decide our future course.

"AS WOMEN GO"
Office seekers have good cause to pay attention to the woman voter. She is expected to outnumber men at the polls this year -- possibly by five million -- and she tends to be conservative in her political opinions. Moreover, the number of women who vote has been steadily growing during the past two decades.

Women are more conservative than men. As conservatives, women favor the Republican Party. "I just feel safer with the Republicans... I wouldn't be too sure what the Democratic party might do..."

Women are more concerned about peace than men. In 1956, three out of five women favored Eisenhower. Five per cent more women than men voted Republican in the 1954 Congressional elections.

No longer can the practical politician dismiss women voters either as a relatively unimportant electoral minority or as carbon copies of men voters. The wise politician will do well to pay particular attention to the political sensitivities of women. Today -- "As women go, so goes the nation."

Scholarships Await 4 H Club Members

Scholarships worth $9600 await 4-H Club members who are pursuing certain college courses. Two home economics scholarships of $800 each, four forestry at $1600 each and two at $800 each in agronomy and related subjects having to do with crop protection and production will be awarded to successful applicants this fall.

The eight scholarships are part of a national 4-H scholarship fund administered by the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago, in cooperation with the Extension Service and land-grant colleges and universities. Funds come from industrial concerns that have supported the 4-H educational program for some time.

Students should apply directly to the state 4-H Club office for further information or contact the county extension agent. Applicants must be present or former 4-H members, and have a good scholastic record.

Winners will be selected by a group of Cooperative Extension persons meeting at the 4-H Committee headquarters in mid-November. The winning candidates will be notified during the National 4-H Club Congress held the last week in November in Chicago.

HITCH YOUR WAGON

The Approaching Choice

The Democrat and Republican parties have outlined the patterns on which they hope to shape the next four years of American history. Each party is campaigning hard to win voter support for its proposals.

The parties are agreed on general goals: national strength to face and defeat the Communist challenge; a better life for all Americans. They are agreed also that the way to accomplish these goals is through economic growth. Here agreement ends and sharp division arises on the best way to promote economic growth.

The Democratic platform calls for more federal spending programs, on the theory that this will stimulate more production. The Republicans place less emphasis on direct government action and more emphasis on encouraging free enterprise. They contend that this system has proved itself by building the greatest producing nation in the world.

Since the goals are the same, voters should carefully investigate the means. For in November it will be the voters who must decide which route to follow, and it will be the voters who must live with the results.

Bed of Nails

Pre-punched galvanized steel sheet clamps are spurring a shift in residential home construction, from conventional roof framing to the use of prefabricated trusses. J. Calvin Jurcic, president of Gang-Nail Sales Co., Inc., Miami, Fla., reports that a complete roof truss connection can be completed every 20 seconds with these clamps, using a single production press. He cites the high strength-to-weight ratio, durability, and corrosion resistance of galvanized steel as key factors in the rapidly increased use of these connectors. The Committee on Galvanized Steel Sheet Research predicts that well over 12,000 tons of galvanized steel will be required during 1960 for the fabrication of these connectors.

(Editor's Note: A letter received at the close of school last June from the state department of public instruction commended the board of education, the administrators, faculty and students of Lincoln-Way high school. The letter was written by Olin W. Stead, administrative director of the department of state supervision, and is reproduced here to apprise the public of the regard in which Lincoln-Way high school is held by educators. It also recommends an increase in the educational fund tax rate in order that the high standards of the school be maintained.)

"It was a very pleasant experience for me to have the opportunity to visit the Lincoln-Way Community high school on May 11, 1960.

"The school is housed in a very fine brick building erected in 1953. There are twenty-three general classrooms, offices, gymnasium, and a beautiful auditorium in the building. The school is located on a seventy acre tract. It has been well maintained, is in excellent condition, and the custodial service is good.

"A five hundred thousand dollar addition to the building is under construction and will be ready for use this coming school year. This is an area growing fast with school enrollment increasing at the rate of about one hundred pupils each year.

"The instructional materials in the school are unusually good with an adequate supply available in each department.

"The library facilities in the school are excellent. Four thousand dollars was spent to improve it this year.

"Faculty members are well qualified and properly certified.

"The instruction is good and it is meeting the needs of the pupils as well as the standards prescribed by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"There is a very fine spirit existing between the administration, the faculty, and students.

"I wish to compliment the administrator for his interest in providing excellent educational, as well as cultural opportunities, for each pupil enrolled in the school.

"There were many fine citizenship traits observed by me as I visited the school.

"The board of education deserves praise from every citizen of this area for the time and effort it has spent to provide this fine high school for the pupils in the district.

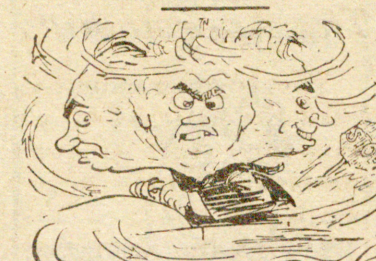

"I regret very much that recently a proposition to increase the educational tax rate in the district was defeated.

"The cost of a good education is cheap at almost any price, but the cost of a poor program of education is high at any price. The teachers' salaries are low as compared with some of the schools in the area. The cost of all the books, materials, and supplies that are required to operate a good school have increased considerably in the past few years.

"I feel certain that the people of this area want only the finest educational opportunities for their children. To provide these, means that a higher tax rate must be voted.

"Citizens of the area should be very proud of this fine high school.

"I wish to thank the administration, the faculty, and students for the many courtesies that were extended to me as I visited the school."

State Lists Waterfowl Seasons

Duck, coot and goose seasons to be in effect throughout the State of Illinois have been announced by Director Glen D. Palmer of the department of conservation.

The duck and coot season will open statewide at noon on October 28th and continue through Dec. 6. After opening day shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset.

A closed season has been declared on canvasback and redheads in an effort to help these two species to a more normal population. The ruddy duck, which was on the protected list last year, may be taken during the 1960 season as a good nesting period enabled this species to return to the abundant list.

The daily limit for ducks has been set at four and only one wood duck and one hooded merganser may be included in the daily limit. Hunters may have eight ducks in possession after opening day, but the possession limit of eight may include only one wood duck and one hooded merganser. In addition, five American and redbreasted mergansers may be included in daily kill and 10 in the possession limit.

The daily limit on coot has been increased from four to six this year, and the possession limit after opening day is 12.

Goose season, with the exception of Alexander, Union, Jackson and Williamson counties, will be from noon, Oct. 28 to Dec. 6, inclusive. After opening day shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset.

In Alexander, Union, Jackson and Williamson counties, geese may be taken from sunrise to 3 p.m., Nov. 1 to Dec. 15, inclusive. Daily goose limit will be five and is not to include more than one Canada or its subspecies, and one whitefronted goose, or two whitefronted geese. Possession limit is the same as the daily limit.

Director Palmer also explained that the department had entered into an agreement with the U. S.

Lincoln-Way High Needs Help

Ordinarily we do not favor higher taxes. But in the case of Lincoln-Way high school we believe it is necessary to grant that district an increase in the educational fund tax rate as well as an increase in the transportation tax rate.

While one does not like to see a boost in his tax bill we must be realistic. We have a high school. It is a good school. There is nothing fancy about it -- no froofraw. It is a school that has won the commendation of educators not only in Illinois but in other states as well.

Under the law the school is our responsibility. It is ours to support and it is only common sense to do as good a job as we can. Indeed we are fortunate that the school is ours and the best way to insure that it will remain ours is to support its essential needs. The big government boys are striving to grab all controls and one of the baits held out is federal aid for education. The ultimate end of federation school aid, of course, would be for bureaucrats at Washington to take over the administration of the public school system. Some of you may be inclined to pooh-pooh this but we would like to point out that whenever the federal government puts in money it also makes the rules.

The only way to preserve an independent school system, in our opinion, is to support it on a local level.

Communities with a substantial number of manufacturing plants on its tax rolls have an advantage over those in which taxes are raised largely by imposts on householders and individuals. The Lincoln-Way high school district has few factories or industrial plants. Some of these days, it is our hope, this situation will be remedied. In the meantime the school is in need of money and the only thing we can do is to provide it by voting "YES" on the two proposals to be voted upon at the special election Sept. 17.

One proposal is for a 13-cent increase in the educational fund tax rate and a 3-cent raise in the tax rate for transporting students to and from school.

Both increases are needed. Lincoln-Way high school's salary schedule is the lowest in any high school in the area, a fact that makes it difficult to keep teachers. Supt. A. Hunter Chapman was successful in rounding up six additional teachers for the current school year. This addition to the faculty was made necessary by the increased enrollment and there is no reason to suppose that it will ever become smaller.

Regular salary increases for the faculty plus the increase in numbers has added $40,000 to the 1960-61 school budget. Last year the board was compelled to borrow $95,000 to meet bills and payrolls. It will have to borrow again this year.

The cost of operating school buses is far greater than the amount realized thru the 2-cent transportation tax. The transportation cost last year was around $33,000 of this amount $13,000 was available thru state aid and the 2-cent transportation tax brought in something under $8,000. This left a deficit of some $10,000 which had to come out of the educational fund.

An increase in the tax rate to five cents will bring in approximately $20,000 and with state aid the transportation problem could be met without recourse to other funds.

Last year an average of 660 pupils rode the buses every school day. If the district did not employ a tax program to meet the costs but charged each pupil on a per capita basis it would have been between $50 and $60 a pupil. It is not believed that many families would voluntarily assume this charge in the face of the fact that with a five-cent tax rate a person whose property carried an equalized assessed valuation of $10,000 would pay but $5 toward transportation.

Last spring the proposed increase in the educational fund tax rate was beaten. If it is beaten again the only thing left for the district to do is lower its educational standards.

And that is something that we really can't afford.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Thru a combination of cartoons, and the written and spoken word prevailing thru the centuries, the goat has become a low comedy figure, when it is not a victim of type casting and assigned to the role of patsy, or fall guy.

In ancient days it was the custom of the Jewish high priests to load all of the sins of the people on goat selected for the purpose and then drive the animal into the wilderness.

It is not likely that this treatment caused the goat any concern, nor any injury -- physical or mental -- because it is endowed with a digestive setup that enables it to subsist on rough and meager rations so the animal carrying sins into the wilderness probably found many a tasty morsel there.

His role did give rise to the term scapegoat, which is still in the language and as the public relation boys would say, "it hasn't helped his press any."

While it is true goats can subsist on vegetation that other animals would starve on, they can become ill from eating off-beat stuff, like mouldy hay for instance.

But who will believe a goat when he complains of feeling headachy, dizzy, with spots before his eyes, and in the same breath blames it on something he ate.

He could be dying but does he get any sympathy?

"Listen to that goat," people say, laughing, convinced by legend that tin cans, bottles and red woolen underwear are staples in any list of rations for goats. "Says he's sick because of something he et, yet. What a gag, and strictly deadpan too! That goat's a card! A regular card!"

Goats -- we are speaking of the mine run type now and not fancy yarn suppliers and milkers -- are sometimes used to clear out brush and do quite a neat job too. Economic also. One doesn't have to have them sharpened, or fill their tanks with gasoline. And another thing -- their pitman rod never breaks nor is it necessary to set their sickle register.

Thus one can readily see that goats are useful animals and have a distinct place in life but no one takes them seriously unless he happens to get cornered by a hefty buck goat, with horns who happens to be mad at the world.

Take the goats exhibited at fairs, for instance. Visitors to livestock exhibits don't go around taking liberties with the cattle. And they pretty well leave the hogs alone, especially the boars.

But the goats! Well, the goats are really made the goats of visitors' attentions.

Even if there was a big sign, "DON'T FEED OR ANNOY THE GOATS," it is not likely anyone would pay it any heed.

According to owners who show goats at fairs they are kept busy coping with visitors.

There are some who appear to take great delight in pulling goats by the ears hard enough to make them bleat. Others use souvenir canes or yard sticks to whack the animals for the same end result.

And the things they try to feed them -- bubble gum, peanut sacks, popcorn sacks, crackerjack boxes, cigarets, empty cigaret packages -- soft pack or flip-top box -- cigar stubs, tinfoil, tin cans used for beverages, pieces of cloth and peanut butter.

People also poke and punch at goats and if the animals are the yarn-bearing variety there are always some visitors who try to get samples -- by pulling.

This tendency to poke and punch animals on exhibit extends to the sheep. And that, gentle reader, is why sheep at fairs are blanketed if within reach of passers by who seem to have an irresistible yen to plunge their fingers into the fleece, and pinch the animals back or side. Repeat this often enough and one could have a sheep looking slightly moth eaten and a sure loser in the show ring.

Small breeds in dog shows are said to take a considerable going over by people but no one makes passes at the German shepherds or the Dobermans.

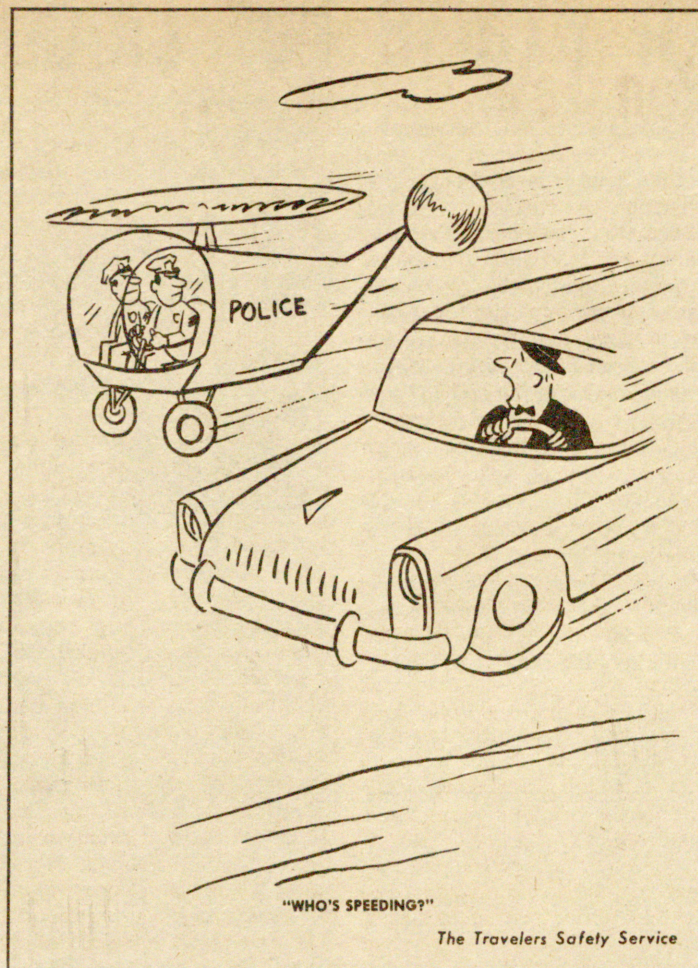

In the meantime the goats may as well make up their minds that unless they establish better press relations and a lobby at the national and state capitals they can expect to get the worst of it in any decision if it is a question of Goats versus People.

"You can expect the worst from people," a veteran show goat remarked at the Indiana state fair last week, "and you get it!"

Big Groups Back State Bond Issue

More than thirty state-wide organizations in Illinois, whose combined membership totals several million people, have endorsed the public welfare building bond issue, it was announced today by Arnold H. Maremont, organizing chairman of the Emergency Committee for 50,000.

The Emergency Committee for 50,000 (50,000 mental patients), was recently formed under the leadership of Mr. Maremont, Chicago industrialist and civic leader to coordinate the efforts of all organizations and local citizens committees in Illinois that are working for passage of the Bond Issue.

Mr. Maremont announced that the committee has opened an office in Chicago located at 29 E. Madison, Room 1510. The office phone number is STate 2-8658.

Mr. Maremont said, "The membership of the state-wide organizations which have endorsed the bond issue, represents a cross-section of Illinois citizenry. Included in this cross-section are: civic, service, business and industry, union, religious, health, veteran, educational, professional and farm groups."

Among the organizations with state-wide membership that have endorsed the bond issue are: Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers (PTA), Illinois Farmers Union, Illinois Council of Churches, Illinois State Federation of Labor & Congress of Industrial Organizations, Illinois Retail Merchants Association, Illinois Federation of Woman's clubs and the Board of Public Welfare Commissioners.

Mr. Maremont reported that the following Illinois Departments of Veterans Organizations have endorsed the Bond Issue: American Legion, Amvets, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Combined Veterans Association of Illinois.

Professional organizations which have endorsed the Bond Issue include: Illinois State Nurses Association, Illinois Nursery-men's Association, Women's Bar Association of Illinois, Probate and County Judges Association, and the National Traveling Mens Association.

The public welfare building bond issue, if passed by the voters on November 8 will provide $150,000,000 for building and permanent improvements in Illinois' 26 mental hospitals and other public welfare institutions.

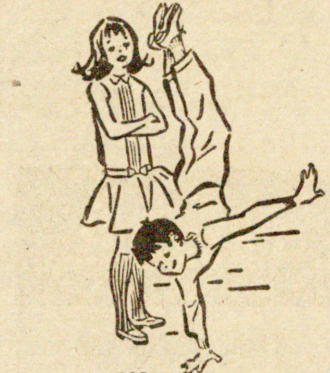

Among the educational and health associations on a state-wide level which have endorsed the bond issue are: Illinois Education Association, Illinois Association for Mental Health, Illinois State Medical Society, and the Society's Women's Auxiliary, Illinois Hospital Association, Illinois Welfare Association, Illinois Psychiatric Society, Illinois Public Health Association, Friends of the Mentally Ill, Illinois Rehabilitation Association, Illinois Psychiatric Training and Research Authority, Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, Illinois Commission on Children, Illinois Federation of the Blind, Inc., Illinois Tuberculosis Association, and the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children and its 43 affiliated associations.

In addition to the organizations with statewide membership, approximately 50 local organizations organized on a city or county basis have already joined the campaign for passage of the bond issue, Maremont reported. He said that new citizens groups were springing up daily and a report on the local groups would be released soon.

Good records are important in any business. Records such as those kept by members of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association are an important tool in the analysis of the farm business. By keeping good records, Walter Lauffer, Tinley Park, has developed a high producing herd of Holstein. According to the recent DHIA annual report, the Lauffer dairy herd averaged 552 pounds of fat and 14,036 pounds of milk during the 1959-60 testing year. This is a good record and only by keeping accurate records can farmers continue to upgrade their dairy herds.

4-H members taking part in the Grain Marketing activity went on a tour of the elevator facilities of Central-Soya last week. Here the 4-H'ers saw the grain being unloaded from a barge in the canal. They also saw a foreign ship being loaded with grain. Various aspects of business of the terminal grain elevator were explained to the members during the tour. Thanks to Marvin Kampe, Tinley Park, for arranging the tour, and also to Mel Hoyer, Matteson, for making transportation arrangements in helping get the 4-H'ers to the elevator.

The University of Illinois, College of Agriculture will hold its annual Agronomy Day Sept. 14. Corn and soybeans will be the featured crops and visitors will have an especially good opportunity to hear about a new research in these two crops which are so important to Illinois farmers. Some of the items on the 18-stop tour will be plant population studies in corn, fertilizer, development of new corn hybrids from which we hope to get some high oil and high protein corn in the future. Disease resistance in soybeans is an important item of research at the University.

Cook Co. To Change Subdivision Law

them as well as the subdividers. The growth of the area has been so rapid that lawmakers are in a situation similar to that of airplane designers. Plane designers claim that the craft they plan is frequently obsolete before the drawings are complete, so fast is the change and progress in ideas and engineering. The same problem seems to beset the housing business. Ideas about building and living conditions in general are changing so fast that by the time regulatory bodies have set up measures to hold some sort of control over the situation it becomes necessary to amend them. So far the subdivision code for Cook county is still in the process of being revised.)

Prescribing rules and regulations for the subdivision and improvement of raw, vacant land for residential and other uses is currently accepted, in the United States, as a normal function of local government. It has become generally recognized as a method of insuring sound community growth and the safeguarding of the interests of the home owner, the subdivider, and the local government. A large part of land subdivision and development continues to occur in unincorporated areas, and thus the regulation of land subdivision is of major concern to the unincorporated areas of Cook county.

Regulations controlling the subdivision of land help to prevent excessive governmental operating costs. At the same time, they assure to the maximum degree possible the means whereby land can be developed for the highest possible use with all of the necessary protections against deterioration and obsolescence. These objectives have been secured by the proposed Cook County Subdivision Manual.

The subdivision of land is a technical and business venture which not only affects the immediate return to the investor in land and the value of the land on which he may wish to build, but it also involves for the county specific items of cost and income for the years to come which must be weighed at the time that a subdivision is under consideration.

In order to understand the objectives of subdivision control regulations, it is first necessary to recognize that a wide variety of interests are concerned and that these interests will vary in relation to different subdivision proposals within the county.

A subdivision proposal or project is initiated by the owner of the land or by a builder-developer or real estate operator who has a financial interest in the development, sale, or lease of the subdivision in whole or in part. Such sale or lease involves transactions between the subdivider and his client and the subdivider and the local government. While the financing of such transactions may take an infinite number of forms, the ultimate objective is the same: the disposal of the subdivided land as a profit to the owner or developer. Therefore the Cook county subdivision regulations recognize the fundamental financial interests of both the seller and the purchaser and strive to avoid imposing undue hardships which would impair land saleability, while at the same time protecting the interest of the county.

The investor in land may be an individual purchaser of one or more lots, a mortgage bank, an insurance company, or an agency of the federal government which acquires financial interest, either thru mortgage insurance or other means. It is to the interest of these investors that the subdivision be not only financially feasible, but that there should be a certain guarantee of the continuing success of the project in order that there may be a continued return on the investment and in order that satisfactory interest rates and amortization charges may be levied. It is important to recognize also that generally the life of a subdivision is as long as the life of a community, and that, during this indefinite and extensive period of years, properties are continually changing hands and investments are continually being made in land and buildings. It is to the county's best interests, including the interests of both private enterprise and local government, to see that every subdivision is so well designed and constructed that it does not ultimately become a charge against the community and that it does not become a liability instead of an asset, thus adversely affecting the local tax base.

One of the errors committed in the past in the management of the subdivision development process has been the lack of recognition of the long-term responsibilities involved in the platting of land and the laying out of streets and other facilities and services. A quick sale may provide for a quick profit to the subdivider. However, this gain may be offset by the cost to the community of installing facilities that require increased taxation.

To the home owner, sound subdivision regulations provide a protection of his special interests from the beginning. The safeguarding of the character of a development, thru provisions of adequate block design, street layout, lot layout, and the provision of adequate utilities and community services, supply a stability to the value of the home owner's investment and safeguard his family life. Too often we have seen evidences of deterioration of neighborhoods because of bad platting and inadequate subdivision protection.

As the costs of county management rise, it becomes more and more important to provide means of stabilizing residential values. The constant movement of people from one neighborhood to another and the loss of value can be minimized by the development of sound and attractive neighborhoods.

The incorporated communities within Cook county have been considered in the preparation of the county subdivision regulations. These units of government have a very vital interest in the future development of adjacent unincorporated areas, as these abutting areas substantially affect property values within the municipality; also, the nearby unincorporated areas may well be annexed in the future.

Have To Prove You Were Born, Ask Census Bureau

Last year, 6,272 residents of Illinois turned to the U. S. Census Bureau for help in proving they were born. These persons were among an estimated 30 million United States residents who are without proof of age or birth. The historical records of the Census Bureau provide the only source of this information for most of these 30 million people.

Proof of age or birth is needed today to collect social security and other retirement benefits. It is needed to obtain passports. It is needed to qualify for jobs carrying certain age or citizenship requirements. It is needed for some forms of insurance.

Since 1920, the Census Bureau has provided more than three and one-half million persons with copies of their Census records on age, place of birth, citizenship, or kinship. Persons seeking such records should write to the Personal Census Service Branch, Bureau of the Census, Pittsburgh, Kans., for a Census Records Search Application Form. A fee of $3 is charged for a search of not more than two censuses for one person and for one copy of the information found. Additional copies cost $1 each. An expedited search costs $4. Expedited searches are usually completed within a few days while the routine $3 search may take up to 30 days, depending upon the backlog of requests and the ease or difficulty in locating the information.

The personal information in the records of the 1900 and later censuses is confidential by law and may be furnished only upon the written request of the person to whom it relates or, for a proper purpose, a legal representative such as guardian or administrator of an estate. Information regarding a child who has not reached legal age may be obtained upon the written request of either parent.

Outlives Her Own Life Insurance Policy

Minnie B. Butters, 98, of Livermore Falls, Maine, outlived life insurance statistics by living longer than her normal life expectancy. She is shown receiving full payment of her policy proceeds from Howard S. Jones, district manager for the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company. Mrs. Butters forgot she had such a policy until the company, after weeks of investigation, located her and paid the proceeds in full.

Officials of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company heaved a sigh of relief recently when, after weeks of investigation, they were able to pay off on a policy issued in 1899. Recipient of the proceeds was hale and hearty Minnie B. Butters of Livermore Falls, Maine — age 98.

It seems that Mrs. Butters took out a policy on her own life at age 26, and made premium payments on it until it was fully paid-up in 1936. Meanwhile she moved away, and the idea of notifying the insurance company inadvertently slipped her mind. As a result, the John Hancock, conscientious though it was, lost track of her whereabouts.

Early this year, the company's claim department noted that Mrs. Butters would soon have outlived her life insurance policy, and would be entitled to full payment in February, 1960. Immediately an investigation was launched to locate her. Pouring over records in the city of Haverhill, the company's representative uncovered the fact that Mrs. Butters' husband had come from Livermore Falls. Acting on this clue, they sent an investigator off to Maine, but the amount of the check surprised Mrs. Butters. The original value of the policy was $162, but subsequent benefits and a settlement dividend not in effect when the policy was issued, swelled its value by $38.

Howard S. Jones of Lewiston, the company's district manager, hastened to present Mrs. Butters' $200 check.

Not only the arrival of Jones, but the amount of the check surprised Mrs. Butters. The original value of the policy was $162, but subsequent benefits and a settlement dividend not in effect when the policy was issued, swelled its value by $38.

Asked what she intended to do with the proceeds, Mrs. Butters replied that she would hang on to them. She extended Jones an invitation to come back and see her in a few years. Maybe he'll sell her another policy.

Expect Thousands At Holy Hour Service In Stadium

Holy Name Societies thru the Joliet diocese are sponsoring the Diocese-wide Holy Hour scheduled for the September 25 from 3 to 4 p.m. at the Joliet Memorial Stadium on Route 52, west of Joliet.

Bishop Martin D. McNamara will speak at the Holy Hour, which will be in honor of Christ the King.

An altar will be constructed in order that the Blessed Sacrament may be exposed during the Holy Hour. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will conclude the Holy Hour ceremonies. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel J. Murray, pastor of St. Alexander church, Villa Park, will be commentator.

A preliminary program is being arranged for those who reach the stadium early.

More than 11,000 people from the entire diocese attended the last Holy Hour held at the Joliet Memorial Stadium on Aug. 29, 1954. That Holy Hour was also held under the auspices of the Holy Name Societies of the Diocese of Joliet.

Royal Neighbors To Fete 50 Year Members Sept. 15

BY ELIZABETH ANDERSON
The Good Luck Camp of Royal Neighbors will meet Thursday, Sept. 15, in the home of Mrs. Gladys Kesser, Parkview Ave., Lockport. They will do special honor to their "50-year" members, of which there are 15. Dinner will be served at noon and the afternoon spent with the customary business session and games, and, we imagine, in much reminiscing. It is hoped that all of the 15 will be able to attend.

The scrap book compiled by the local Auxiliary of the Marine Corps League won second place at the recent national convention held in Grand Rapids, Mich., in competition with approximately 300 similar books. Mrs. Estelle Metzger of Lockport, was publicity chairman this year, with Miss Muriel Jacobson of Lemont and Mrs. Edith Burnworth of Homer as co-chairman. The books are rated as to neatness, printed in-ches and photos. The committee is grateful to the press and reporters for their co-operation in this project. They hope for a first rating next year.

Mrs. Darrell Shepherd was among the flu victims of last week. Mrs. John Hollister has returned from Silver Cross Hospital after spending nearly two weeks there as a medical patient.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burnworth, Bruce Rd., left Friday for a two week vacation at Evergreen Lodge, Pine River, Minn. During their absence, Mrs. Burnworth's parents Mr. and Mrs. Julian Williams of Sidell, are staying in the Burnworth home.

The John W. Reiters have returned from a two-week motor trip in the southwest.

John Filipowicz is recuperating at his home on Creme Rd. after hurting his hand in a power mower last Saturday. His thumb was nearly severed from the hand, but was sewed in place at Silver Cross Hospital where he stayed for two days, and is now healing nicely.

Iris Filipowicz left Saturday for St. Louis where she will enter Midwest Bible College as a freshman. She will major in religious education.

The Couples Club will meet Friday evening, Sept. 9, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Schaeke.

The Eugene Andersons have returned from a week's vacation in Wisconsin. While they were at the Ralph Burch home near Sheldon Saturday, a small tornado struck the area, breaking some windows, ruining trees and laying flat and twisting the field corn.

Ruth Vancil of Downers Grove visited relatives here this week.

The Homer Fire Auxiliary will meet Monday evening, Sept. 12, at the Fire House, having delayed the meeting because of Labor Day. Plans for a Fire Dept. picnic at Donahue's Woods on Sept. 11 have been cancelled. On Oct. 9, the volunteers will hold Open House at the Fire House, when all are invited to view the new equipment.

The Auxiliary will hold a White Elephant sale in Joliet Sept. 16 and 17. Donations for this event should be left with Mrs. B. D. Brankey or Mrs. Fred Gebert, or you may call Mrs. Frank Faul for information.

The Homer Church Auction at Konow's Farm will be Saturday afternoon Oct. 1.

Faye Rodgers began her duties as Homer Church organist last Sunday, replacing Betty Anderson who has been the organist for several years. Betty will enter Joliet Junior College this fall where she will specialize in music. She will also play the organ at the Lockport Congregational church.

Plans Adult Study Course

The adult education division of the College of St. Francis, Taylor and Wilcox, Joliet, will offer eight non-credit courses beginning Sept. 28.

Dr. James Keating will lead a reading course, "Great Ideas in Western Culture"; Philip Peter, "The Enjoyment of Great Music"; the Rev. John Kloefer, "How to Live with Yourself and Others"; Robert Sullivan, "Introduction to Modern Theatre and TV Plays" on alternate nights with J. E. Stiker, leading a discussion of "Contemporary Short Stories." The Bible study, led by the Rev. John Mc Connell, will concentrate on the Epistles of St. Paul. "Family Finance", a course on taxes, insurance, real estate and budgeting, will be offered by eight men, experts in their respective fields of finance.

Registration may be made by mail or in person at Tower Hall, Wilcox and Taylor streets. Classes are informal and are open to men and women, regardless of previous education, creed, color or race.

Driver Behavior Better, Says Safety Body Officer

The Cook County Traffic Safety Commission says there has been "an encouraging overall improvement in driver behavior" in suburban Cook county.

"It seems to be plain," says John McCloverty, executive secretary, "that the vast majority of drivers are mindful of safety and that only a very small percentage are involved in serious accidents."

He noted a new pattern was created in July when there were fewer accidents than in July, 1959, and fewer persons injured, but a death toll almost twice as high. Eight persons were killed and 1,161 injured in 3,205 traffic accidents in the suburban areas in July 1959, compared with 14 killed and 907 injured in 2,848 accidents this July.

In looking for an explanation for the decrease in total accidents, McCloverty noted there are more cars on the road than last year and that the total should have risen unless more drivers are becoming safer drivers.

The records indicate that most people can be reached with safety education, he said. "The small hard core of reckless drivers -- the ones who cause the serious accidents -- must be separated by strict enforcement of the traffic laws," he said, adding:

"The suburban police, whose good work is reflected in the total accidents column, could well make a special project of detecting the chronic speeders and the habitually reckless drivers. It seems that this is our present problem. The great majority of people want safety. The few who resist must somehow be made to get in line."

the afternoon.

Hints For Homeowners

BY JAMES FIZZELL, ASSISTANT FARM ADVISER

Has this been a successful gardening year for you? Have you been able to overcome the many problems which always arise?

This might be a good time to go around your yard and make plans for next year so you can avoid the mistakes made this year.

Annual flowers often look better in the catalog than they do in the garden. Make note of the varieties you grew this year, and indicate which ones did best. Notice the color combinations, the size and how well the different varieties fit with the surrounding plantings.

Are the shrubs and evergreens you planted last fall or spring growing nicely? They should be if they are not standing in water, or under the eaves where they get no water. If your new evergreens are turning brown and dying, dig down and see if they are standing in water. Our clay soils drain slowly. When planting new shrubs, the resultant hole often acts as a pot, becoming full of water which is unable to drain away. If this is the case, it is necessary to provide tile, gravel, wells, or some other type of artificial drainage.

While inspecting your yard notice plants which are old, diseased, badly damaged or which have outgrown their situation. Try to figure out why the plant has become undesirable and replace it with a plant which better fills the needs.

Fertilize your lawn with a nitrogen carrying fertilizer such as 10-6-4, 10-10-10 or even ammonium sulfate or ammonium nitrate. Apply so that every 1000 square feet receive one and one-half pounds of actual nitrogen, (15 pounds 10-10-10 or 10-8-6, 7 1/2 pounds ammonium nitrate, etc.)

If it does not rain within 24 hours, be sure to wash the fertilizer off the leaves by sprinkling.

Said to be Spanish: cooked green lima beans seasoned with nutmeg and parsley along with a good dollop of butter.
